The Program

The need for Criminal Investigative Analysis (formerly referred to as Psychological Profiling) training has become increasingly recognized over the past few years as law enforcement agencies across the country encounter an ever increasing number of rapes and homicides committed by unknown offenders. As we move through this decade and beyond, it seems apparent that police administrators will require highly trained, competent people to collect, collate, and analyze data to help them effectively deal with these problems. But before any problem can be resolved, it first must be identified. Armed with the information regarding the types of crimes occurring in their jurisdictions, investigators, if properly trained, are uniquely positioned to utilize the information presented in this course to not only identify when serial crimes are occurring, but to identify the personality and behavioral characteristics of the type of person most likely to have committed the crimes. However, while criminal profiling is particularly useful in cases of serial rape and homicide, it also can be extremely useful in the investigation of many single cases of rape or homicide.

This is a one-week (36 hour) “hands-on” program that provides you with techniques you can use immediately to solve the real-world problems that daily confront the law enforcement community. Once trained, you will be able to save countless hours by focusing your investigations on the most likely type of person to have committed the immediate crime, predict what the offender did before the offense, what he did during the crime, and anticipate his expected post-offense behavior following the event. In investigations with extensive suspect lists, the savings in time to develop lead prioritizations can be substantial.

Presented in a comfortable, non-threatening environment that permits both individualized and group instruction, the course takes a “learn-by-doing” approach that gives students many opportunities to actually experience the tasks associated with the criminal profiling process. Participants will be taught how to read a crime scene and how to use crime scene information to develop a “portrait” of the offender’s childhood, family background, sexual history, appearance, lifestyle, and other relevant personal information which is then used to identify the type of person most likely to have committed the immediate crimes. This format of instruction allows for not only a highly interactive exchange between the student and the facilitator, but offers unique opportunities for group interaction and collaboration as well.

You Should Attend If:

- You are a sex crimes investigator
- You are a homicide investigator
- You are a patrol officer who may be in a position to recognize the characteristics of serial crimes
- You are a crime analyst responsible for providing assistance to sex crimes or homicide investigators

Regardless of your previous experience with analytical methods, this course is for you. You can always do your job better when you apply fresh ideas and techniques. We’ve made sure our seminars give you exactly what you need to put you at your peak!

Here’s What You Will Learn

This course will provide you with an arsenal of techniques you can use to identify the physical, behavioral, and personality characteristics of offenders who commit the crimes of rape and homicide, particularly serial rape and homicide offenses. We’ll demystify essential professional skills involving:

Operational Issues

- How to Recognize the Serial Aspects of Crime
- Uses and Misuses of Investigative Analysis Techniques
- Telltale Clues—How to Recognize the All-Important Signatures of Violent Crime Offenders
- How To Link Cases Together
- How to Identify the Behavioral and Personality Characteristics of Offenders Who Commit the Crimes of Rape and Homicide
- Answering the BIG Questions— How to Determine If, When, And Where Offenders May Strike Again, and Who May be the Next Likely Target
- Work Smarter, Not Harder!—How to Focus an Investigation
- How to Develop Suspect Leads for “Arresting” Results
- How to Prepare Comprehensive Reports of Analyses
- Beware the Femme Fatale!—How Female Serial Killers Differ from Male Serial Killers
- Types of Serial Homicide Offenders—Differences between Organized, Disorganized, Mixed, Lust, and Sadistic Killers
- Types of Serial Rape Offenders—Differences between Power Reassurance, Power Assertive, Anger Retaliation and Anger Excitation Rapists
- Critical Differences in Crime Scenes—How to Instantly Distinguish between Abduction Sites, Killing Sites, And Dump Sites
- Who Murders—and Why! Social and Environmental Factors that Shape the Killer’s Life
- The Weird and the Wired—Psychiatric, Psychological, and Pharmacologically-Induced Disorders Suffered by Some Violent Crime Offenders

The Profiling Process

Through lecture, demonstration, and the use of audio and video media, all participants will have the opportunity to develop and practice their assessment skills by creating their own in-class profiles of such notorious killers as Ted Bundy, John Wayne Gacy, Arthur Shawcross, Jack the Ripper, Andrei Chikatilo, and other such infamous “gentlemen.”

About Our Criminal Investigative Analysis Programs

Law enforcement officials send their sworn officers and civilian personnel to our criminal investigative analysis courses because of our proven ability to provide them with high-quality, performance-oriented training. Class exercises are based on real-world crime problems investigators are expected to solve each day. As such, students return to their agencies with not only the knowledge of what they should do, but, more importantly, how they should do it. Skills are developed by instructors who are intimately familiar with criminal investigative analysis techniques, and by the students' use of our comprehensive, easy-to-understand course materials. These elements contribute to the continued popularity of our Criminal Investigative Analysis training programs. Our success, however, comes from our achievement of one important goal: We turn Theory Into Practice.™

What Others Say About Our Training

"Using case histories, videos, suspect interviews, and crime scene photos, Wayne Porter takes the class through a trip into the psychological makeup of the criminal mind. Truly a course that should be taken by everyone in law enforcement."

Thomas T. Smith
Columbus Police Department

"Excellent course content! My head is still spinning a bit from all of the information (I took 42 pages of notes!) and photos, but I feel much more confident in my abilities now."

Detective Carl Kleinknecht
Bellevue Police Department

"Excellent program and well worth the investment! Wayne was extremely knowledgeable and brought a great deal of personal experience to the class."

Dan Warner
Ohio Auditor of State

"Wayne Porter is a great presenter. No matter what training you have already had or your level of expertise, this class is understandable, challenging, and very interesting."

Zetta Lowery
Cobb County Police Department

About the Crime and Intelligence Certification Program

All participants in the Criminal Investigative Analysis Training Course are eligible to have their coursework credited toward the attainment of a Certificate Award in Crime and Intelligence Analysis (CCIA) and their CCIA Credential. This program is sponsored by the California Department of Justice and the California State Universities. Students who complete all credential requirements will receive a certificate from California State University Sacramento to verify their academic achievement. The California Department of Justice, in recognition of the University Award, will subsequently bestow the title of Certified Crime Analyst upon, and grant the credential to, all students who successfully complete the credential program. Please see the section in this brochure entitled "Continuing Education Units."

About The Alpha Group

The Alpha Group is comprised of professional speakers, trainers, and researchers who provide their expertise and practical experience to criminal justice, public safety and victim service organizations. The organization is widely recognized for its ability to provide training in crime and intelligence analysis, criminal investigative analysis, statement analysis, homeland security and terrorism analysis, workload analysis, grantsmanship, automated information system development and design, and other such unique areas of law enforcement. We also recognize that those who serve the public often have unique needs themselves. We, therefore, present a variety of management, supervisory, and interpersonal communications seminars. All of our skill-building programs address the personal needs of those—at all levels—who are employed in the public safety and victim service professions.

About Your Trainer

Wayne D. Porter, M.S., is one of only 50 FBI-certified police-fellow profilers in the world. He was certified by the International Criminal Investigative Analysis Fellowship sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime. Mr. Porter's training consisted of a three-year program which included a review of thousands of cases and over 60 specialized crime topics taught by nationally recognized experts in the field of violent crime and sexual deviancy research.

Prior to his full-time teaching and consulting on active serial rape and homicide cases, Wayne served 19 years with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement as a Special Agent assigned the duties of a Violent Crime Investigator and polygraph examiner. He currently maintains his sworn status as a Reserve Special Agent with that organization.

One of the more notable assignments of Mr. Porter's career was the Gainesville, Florida, serial homicides where he was designated as the task force profiler. The eighteen-month investigation involved the killing of five students at the University of Florida within a 72-hour period and the triple homicide of a Shreveport, Louisiana, family. Other notable assignments include the sexual sadist serial mutilation/homicide of six Northport, Florida males, and the investigation of the quadruple workplace homicide case in Bartow, Florida. Additionally, several of Mr. Porter's cases have received national attention through television's Court TV and A&E's Investigative Reports.

Wayne Porter currently consults and instructs on violent crime topics to law enforcement officers and civilian personnel throughout North America. He has also presented in the Netherlands and in London, England, at the New Scotland Yard.
